Hey, Fightin’ Tigers, fight all the way.
Hey, Fightin’ Tigers, win the game today.
You’ve got the know-how,
You’re doing fine,
Hang on to the ball as you hit the wall,
And smash right through the line.
You’ve got to go for a touchdown,
Run up the score.
Make Mike the Tiger stand right up and roar.
ROAR!
Give it all of your might as you fight tonight
And keep the goal in view—
Victory for L-S-U!

TIGER TALK

Louisiana State University was founded in 1860. After the original campus near Pineville, Louisiana was burned, the institution moved to Baton Rouge. As of 2010, LSU is 150 years old!

Alex Box Stadium Baseball stadium named after Alex Box, outfielder for the 1942 Tigers. Box died in 1943 while fighting in North Africa during WWII.

Architecture Architect Theodore C. Link designed many of the original Italian Renaissance-style buildings around campus, recognized by their tan stucco walls and red tile roofs. The main campus has more than 250 buildings, many of which are on the National Register of Historic Places.

Golden Girls The oldest and most established danceline took the field for the first time in 1959. They perform at all football games with the Golden Band.

Indian Mounds Built over 5,000 years ago by Native Americans. While their intended purpose remains a mystery, Tiger fans have transformed them into a favorite spot for game day play.

Lakes Developed from swamps in the 1930s as a public works project. While many people prefer jogging around the lakes and taking in the beautiful scenery, others enjoy fishing, canoeing, and kayaking in the waters. Sorority and Fraternity Row and the Lod Cook Alumni Center are a few landmarks you will see while touring the lakes.

Memorial Tower Clock tower honoring the Louisiana heroes of WWI. It chimes every quarter hour, and occasionally plays the LSU alma mater.

Middleton Library Named for WWII General Troy Middleton who later became LSU’s 15th president.

Mike the Tiger The first live Bengal tiger was purchased in 1936, and named after athletic trainer Mike Chambers. Mike lives between Tiger Stadium and the PMAC in one of the largest tiger habitats in the US. By the way, he loves visitors!

Parade Ground Grassy field used for concerts, Ultimate Frisbee, military drills, picnics, studying, and even napping. It is home to the new War Memorial.

PMAC Pete Maravich Assembly Center—named in honor of basketball legend Pete Maravich, also known as “Pistol Pete.”

Purple & Gold Popular belief says that LSU’s official colors were chosen in 1893 when the first football team purchased ribbon to decorate their gray jerseys. At the time, stores were stocking ribbons in Mardi Gras colors—purple, gold and green. The team bought all of the purple and gold ribbons to adorn their uniforms and to provide to the fans.

Red Stick “Baton Rouge” in French. The territory gained its name when French explorer d’Iberville saw a cypress pole, stained red from animal blood, marking the boundary between tribal hunting grounds. “Red Stick” is now used as a nickname for Louisiana’s Capitol city.

Student Union Building at the heart of campus housing everything from an art gallery and a theater to the campus bookstore and food court. The one-stop social hotspot!

Tiger Band Regarded as one of the top college marching programs in the country. First organized in 1893. In 2009, they were inducted into the Louisiana Music Hall of Fame.

Tiger Girls Nationally ranked competitive dance team that performs at all home basketball games.

Tiger Stadium Football stadium nicknamed “Death Valley” due to its intimidating atmosphere and the thunderous crowd noise during games.

UREC A recreational facility featuring state of the art work-out equipment, courts for various sports, an indoor pool, and an indoor track.
